John 2:1-11

What fun is a wedding without wine? Not much.

Mary knows that when she goes to Jesus and says, "They have no wine." The bottles are empty. The party's over. The hosts will be embarrassed. People will leave early.

Where, in your own life, have you run out of wine? Felt empty? Been abandoned? Embarrassed?

You give and give, whether it's your job, your relationship, your friendships, and you still feel empty. You may be lonely or isolated by illness. Grief could be stealing your joy. You have no wine left in your "mental" wine cellar.

What did Jesus do when Mary informed him of the wine problem? He took action. No wine? No problem? He had the waiters fill the water jars and turned the water into about 180 gallons of wine. Gallons!

Here's the best part: when the wine ran out, that's when the miracle happened. If the headwaiter or the skinflint father of the bride hadn't miscalculated the amount of spirits needed for this wedding, there would not have been the opportunity for a miracle.

Fr. Mike Marsh writes: "Regardless of how it feels or what we think about it, the day the wine runs out is the beginning of a miracle. Christ does not simply refill our glasses. He transforms our lives, turning water into wine. It is, after all, the third day, the day of resurrection and new life. That which was colorless is now vibrant red. That which had no taste now tingles the tongue. That which had no fragrance now has a full bouquet. That which had no life is now fermenting, active, and alive.

"On the third day our lives are filled to the brim with the good wine; intoxicating us with the life of God, inebriating us with the blood of Christ, and leaving us under the influence of the Holy Spirit. That's the miracle at Cana and it has never ceased happening. Every moment of every day Christ pours himself into the empty jars of our life. He is the good wine; extravagant, abundant, endless.

"Every time that good wine is poured our lives are changed and transformed. I don't know how it happens. I only know that it does happen. I have tasted the good wine. I have experienced the miracle at Cana in my life and seen it in the lives of others.

"I have experienced moments when death is turned into life, sorrow into joy, and despair into hope. I have seen that happen in the lives of others. I have been surprised by fear that was transformed into courage and seen people do things they never thought possible. I have watched empty lives be filled back up.

"Those and a thousand others like them are the miracles of Cana. Those are moments Christ's glory is revealed and we are illumined, shining with the radiance of his glory. His glory becomes ours, two lives one glory.

"They have no wine,' Mary said. But they will. The miracle always begins when the wine gives out."

THIS IS THE CAMP THAT SANDY ATTENDS!

ADULT VOLUNTEERS ARE WELCOME.

There will be an organizational meeting in January.

If you aren't able to go to C.A.M.P., the diocesan-run camp, Camp Bosco is also an option. Both camps offer zip-line, swimming, horses, canoeing, a rock wall, arts and crafts, archery, fishing, camping and hiking for older ages, learning about nature and much more. Both camps are for Catholics and non-Catholics and both teach about the Catholic faith.

TEENAGERS NEEDED

Are you a teen wanting to get involved with a community service project? Would you like for your teenager to help the needy and make an impact on others? Join in the fun with teens from St. Boniface and St. Patrick as they prepare meals for the Clarksburg Mission every other month. About a dozen teens from St. Boniface and St. Patrick have been helping those in need for almost two years! Just a few days ago, teens from both churches made food, delivered it, and served it to those in need. We prepare for 70 meals, but we usually serve around 50. It's easy: Prepare Manwich (Sloppy Joe mix) for ten, buy a dozen buns, potato salad (for ten), and canned fruit cocktail (for ten). That's it. Our next Mission visit will be Friday, March 11 (Remaining visits: May 13, July 8, September 9, November 11). We will meet in the convent parking lot between 3:30 and 3:45, depart for Mission at 3:45, mix and re-heat all foods together, serve at 5 p.m. with minor clean-up around 5:25. That's it, and it makes such a huge impact on so many. For more information contact Lesley White @ 269-3632.

IF YOU FEED THEM, THEY WILL COME

Danielle Mick is our RCIA meal coordinator. If you would like to provide a meal, a sign sheet is in the vestibule or you may call Danielle at 304 517-0269. You do not have to cook to provide the meal—take-out is always an option! We need enough food for 12—14 people (Fr. Steve, Mary, Sandy, 7 RCIA participants and sponsors, helpers, etc.). Thank you for your generosity and kindness!

RCIA MEAL PROVIDERS

1/20	M. Droppelman
1/27	D. Mick

RCIA

Are you or do know someone who is interested in learning more about the Catholic faith? If so, please join us for RCIA. We will resume meeting on Wed., Jan 6, at 6:30 in the parish meeting room. We begin each session with a delicious meal, so come hungry.

Just because you come to RCIA does not mean you have to become Catholic. Becoming Catholic is a discernment process. It doesn't happen overnight and each person's journey is different. We look forward to seeing you!

SAINT OF THE WEEK

January 18

St. Charles of Sezze
(1613-1670)

Charles thought that God was calling him to be a missionary in India, but he never got there. God had something better for this 17th-century successor to Brother Juniper.

Born in Sezze, southeast of Rome, Charles was inspired by the lives of Salvator Horta and Paschal Baylon to become a Franciscan; he did that in 1635. Charles tells us in his autobiography, "Our Lord put in my heart a determination to become a lay brother with a great desire to be poor and to beg alms for his love."

Charles served as cook, porter, sacristan, gardener and beggar at various friaries in Italy. In some ways, he was "an accident waiting to happen." He once started a huge fire in the kitchen when the oil in which he was frying onions burst into flames.

One story shows how thoroughly Charles adopted the spirit of St. Francis. The superior ordered Charles — then porter — to give food only to traveling friars who came to the door. Charles obeyed this direction; simultaneously the alms to the friars decreased. Charles convinced the superior the two facts were related. When the friars resumed giving goods to all who asked at the door, alms to the friars increased also.

At the direction of his confessor Charles wrote his autobiography, The Grandeurs of the Mercies of God. He also wrote several other spiritual books. He made good use of his various spiritual directors throughout the years; they helped him discern which of Charles' ideas or ambitions were from God. Charles himself was sought out for spiritual advice. The dying Pope Clement IX called Charles to his bedside for a blessing.

Charles had a firm sense of God's providence. Father Severino Gori has said, "By word and example he recalled in all the need of pursuing only that which is eternal" (Leonard Perotti, St. Charles of Sezze: An Autobiography, page 215).

He died at San Francesco a Ripa in Rome and was buried there. Pope John XXIII canonized him in 1959.

Dear Padre

January 17, 2016

Parents aren't culpable for the actions of children

I'm terrified that the birth-control pill my son's girlfriend takes contains an abortion-inducing ingredient. He has asked me not to discuss his sex life, but am I committing a sin if I don't mention this related issue?

Children grow up and ultimately make and live with their own decisions, including those involving matters of faith and morals. Parents can (and should) advise and encourage them to live according to the truth that Christ revealed to us through the Church, but parents cannot force them to do anything and therefore are not culpable for their child's actions. This is why children past the age of reason need to confess their own sins.

Mention your concerns in a clear, straightforward manner; then don't dwell on them. You will have done your part, and pressing further may push your son away from the Church and, perhaps, yourself. What he needs now is the knowledge that you still love and care for him, and doing so while remaining faithful to our beliefs as Catholics speaks louder than any words you might say. Take the matter to prayer and trust that God will work within your son and his girlfriend in many ways.

It's never easy to challenge another's lifestyle, but we must never turn our back on others. As St. Augustine said, we should have "due love for the persons and hatred of the sin."
