1 Corinthians 12:12-30

Viktor Frankl, a survivor of the Auschwitz and Dachau concentration camps, wrote Man's Search For Meaning, which has sold 9-million copies and is translated into 24 languages. It's one of my favorites, and I just finished reading it for the third time.

Frankl was a psychotherapist before being imprisoned, suffering daily physical and emotional torture for five years. When he arrived at Auschwitz, he was stripped of his clothing and possessions, shaved head to toe, and moved to the shower room. Thankfully, water, not gas, came out. That was just the beginning of his suffering.

Before his detention, Frankl's research focused on the treatment of depressed and suicidal patients. He was in charge of the "suicide pavilion" in Vienna, where he counseled 30,000 patients.

The concentration camps were fruitful ground for Frankl, who wanted to know why some men fought to stay alive while others lost the will to live. Frankl, himself, found the same purpose in prison as he did in his psychotherapy practice—helping prevent his fellow prisoners from committing suicide. Cory Edwards writes, "He did so by helping them to achieve their own sense of purpose. He would encourage one man that he had to survive in order to return to a daughter that was safe in a foreign country. He would encourage another, who had no living relatives left, that he must return to his profession to complete the work he had begun." Frankl noted that the men who held on to hope, those who found beauty in nature, who imagined their life after the concentration camp, were the ones who survived. They had a sense of purpose; they suffered well. Frankl wrote: "It did not really matter what we expected from life, but rather what life expected from us. We needed to stop asking about the meaning of life, and instead to think of ourselves as those being questioned by life—daily and hourly. Our answer must consist, not in talk and meditation, but in right action and in right conduct. Life ultimately means taking the responsibility to find the right answer to its problems and to fulfill the tasks which it constantly sets for each individual."

St. Paul's letter to the Corinthians talks about purpose today. Everyone in this church is part of Christ's body. Each one has a gift, given by God. But, wait. St. Paul uses an even better word than "given." He says these gifts are "designated." If you look it up, designated means "officially assign a specified status or ascribe a specified name or quality to." The gifts we receive are specifically meant for us.

Okay, let's put St. Paul and Viktor Frankl together here: we have certain, unique, specific gifts (Paul). The answer to "What is the meaning of life?" is another question: what does life expect from us? Life means taking responsibility to fulfil the tasks set before us (Frankl).

Once we identify our gifts, it's our duty to use them for two reasons, based on the examples I've given you today: 1) because it will make our lives meaningful, and 2) God expects us to use these gifts to build his Kingdom here on earth. Sounds like a win/win to me.

POPE FRANCIS & THE YEAR OF MERCY

"Brothers and sisters, let us not be closed to the newness that God wants to bring into our lives! Are we often weary, disheartened, and sad? Do we feel weighed down by our sins? Do we think that we won't be able to cope? Let us not close our hearts, let us not lose confidence, let us never give up."

— Pope Francis, The Church of Mercy

SAINT OF THE WEEK

January 26
St. Timothy
Stoned to death in 97

Patronage: against intestinal disorders against stomach diseases
Termoli, Italy

Born at Lystra, Lycaenia, Timothy was the son of a Greek father and Eunice, a converted Jewess. He joined St. Paul when Paul preached at Lystra replacing Barnabas, and became Paul's close friend and confidant. Paul allowed him to be circumcised to placate the Jews, since he was the son of a Jewess, and he then accompanied Paul on his second missionary journey. When Paul was forced to flee Berea because of the enmity of the Jews there, Timothy remained, but after a time was sent to Thessalonica to report on the condition of the Christians there and to encourage them under persecution, a report that led to Paul's first letter to the Thessalonians when he joined Timothy at Corinth. Timothy and Erastus were sent to Macedonia in 58, went to Corinth to remind the Corinthians of Paul's teaching, and then accompanied Paul into Macedonia and Achaia. Timothy was probably with Paul when the Apostle was imprisoned at Caesarea and then Rome, and was himself imprisoned but then freed. According to tradition, he went to Ephesus, became its first bishop, and was stoned to death there when he opposed the pagan festival of Katagogian in honor of Diana. Paul wrote two letters to Timothy, one written about 65 from Macedonia and the second from Rome while he was in prison awaiting execution.

STATE OF THE PARISH ADDRESS

What was the financial picture for St. Pat's in 2015? Find out when John Weber, chairman of the finance council, reports on the state of the parish. John will speak at the weekend Masses on January 30-31. Topics: 2015 income/expenditures, 2016 budget, loan repayment and capital campaign progress, school and parish statistics. Listen and learn!

Dear Padre

January 24, 2016

Broadcasting our beliefs

We're supposed to spread the Good News every chance we get, but what about on bumper stickers, clothing, social media, and other places? I see religious street art and think it's disgraceful, but my son says you have to get people's attention any way you can. What do you think?

Decorum and respect have their lines and limits, but sometimes it's hard to say exactly where they are. Years ago there was an outrage over a clothing manufacturer that stitched Jesus' words on the seat of their line of blue jeans: "Come, follow me!"

We should enjoy our freedoms of speech and religious expression in morally and legally acceptable ways. I think the wearers of T-shirts and the drivers of cars with Christian words on them are sincere. In fact, it takes some nerve to publicly display "I love Jesus." Surely many of the eyes that see this quietly say, "I do, too." And what do we do: leave the field of messaging to people who corrupt our eyes with lies and indecency?

Just remember: Before shirts and stickers, it is God who converts people, very often through those who live and breathe the words — those who really, quietly, and clearly know and love Jesus. He has always relied on flesh-and-blood witnesses to lovingly share his name. This is what it really means to bear witness to Jesus Christ.
