Ecclesiastes 1:2, 2:21-23

The Urban Dictionary definition of "selfie" is: "The beginning of the end of intelligent civilization." Selfies were taken as far back as 1839 when Robert Cornelius uncovered the lens of his camera, ran around to the front of it, stood there for a minute, and then ran back to replace the lens cap. But it wasn't until the 21st century and the 2010 iPhone 4 was released with a front-facing camera that the selfie movement exploded.

A selfie is a self-portrait, taken with a digital camera or camera phone held at arm's length or pointed at a mirror. It is estimated that the average millennial (those born between 1982-2004) will take over 25,000 selfies in his lifetime. If you take a look at any Facebook timeline, you will see that the estimate is probably low. I've been known to take a selfie or two or 900, and I'm light years from being a millennial.

We take selfies because we are social creatures. We need to be connected, seen, and valued by others.

We take selfies because other people take selfies. The practice has become a social norm. Remember your parents' question? If your friend jumped off a cliff, would you? Well...yeah.

And we take selfies because we are vain. We need validation, duck lips and all. We want to share on social media, and we count the "likes" we get. The more the better.

We are vain. When's the last time you walked past a mirror without sneaking a peek at how you look? There was a story on the internet which described a woman who, trying to prove her assertion that men are more vain than women, said to an audience "It is a pity that the most intelligent and learned men attach the least importance to the way they dress. Why, right in this room the most cultivated man is wearing the most clumsily knotted tie!" Every single man in the room immediately put his hand to his tie to straighten it.

"Vanity of vanities, says Qoheleth, vanity of vanities! All things are vanity!" is the verse we hear from today's first reading. In this case, the exasperated writer is using the Hebrew superlative, "Vanity of vanities," to express a supreme degree of futility and emptiness. The author, in fact, paints a rather depressing picture of life: you work hard and have to leave your property to another who hasn't worked a day on it. You worry and fret, and all you get is sorrow, grief, and insomnia. This guy could use a good anti-depressant.

Translated from Hebrew, vanity in this case means "chasing the wind." How many times have you done that? For me, it's about twice the number of selfies I've taken. Yep. I prefer dreams over reality most days. Well, every day.

We chase the wind when we value what we own—a big home, the expensive car, jewelry, the electronics instead of family and friends. We chase the wind and think we are good parents when we take the kids on a fabulous vacation, or give them free reign on the credit card or iTunes account instead of spending time with them. We chase the wind when we deem ourselves successful when our bank account is healthy, our investments are secure, or we work outrageous hours instead of donating time, treasure, and talent to help the poor among us.

All of it—vanity.

This week, the Girl Scouts started preparing 93 backpacks for the kids at H.E. White Elementary School in Clay County, devastated by recent flooding, and more than a dozen totes full of supplies for the school's teachers. I guarantee that the recipients will be happy, but not nearly as happy as the ones who donated the crayons, notebooks, scissors, and thousands more back-to-school necessities.

That, friends, is love of God and neighbor, the complete opposite of vanity.

THE CHURCH DOORS ARE GETTING A WELL DESERVED “SPA” DAY.

Two of the church doors are getting some much needed TLC at a local wood shop. When they are feeling completely refreshed, renewed and ready to take on the world again, two more will go on a short vacation. This will continue until all the church doors are good as new.

Thank you to the Knights of Columbus for funding this project.

Making restitution

My wife and I belonged to an evangelical fellowship and sent our children to their Christian day school. Our tuition discount required that we tithe, but we never did. When we returned to the Catholic Church and I confessed this sin, I was told to make restitution. I don't remember the tuition rates or our income at the time. I want to do this penance but not be legalistic about it.

The Seventh Commandment — You shall not steal —“requires respect for the universal destination of goods and respect for the right to private property” (Exodus 20:15; CCC 2401). The virtue of justice empowers us “to preserve our neighbor’s rights and render him what is his due,” including “the restitution of stolen goods to their owner...in proportion to their responsibility and to their share of what was stolen” (CCC 2407, 2412).

I'm glad you are restoring any injustice you were responsible for. Catholic moral teaching requires that we be as exact as possible in making restitution but also recognizes that determining an exact amount is sometimes impossible. In these cases, we should simply make the best estimate we can, return that amount, and be at peace. Your willingness and desire to be generous are praiseworthy. Like Zacchaeus, the tax collector who made restitution upon encountering Jesus, I'm sure the Lord will be pleased with your effort (Luke 19:1-10).

FLOOD RELIEF UPDATE FROM LESLEY GARTON WHITE

Lewis Countians, including parishioners from St. Patrick and St. Boniface, participated in two flood relief efforts in Bomont, WV. Each trip had more than 50 volunteers making the trek South. Our volunteers--ranging in age from elementary school to senior citizens--participated in a wide range of relief efforts from organizing the distribution center to working out in the community gutting homes, cleaning home places, working on getting homes ready to re-build, and, most importantly, offering hugs and listening to their stories of survival. Some people are suffering terribly as they have been without utilities, can't get out due to roads/bridges, sustained loss of wages, and completely lost homes, cars, outbuildings, equipment, household items, etc. One elderly lady had just returned from knee surgery the day before the flood. Another man had not been visited by anyone (except for an initial water-drop off from the National Guard). The people are tired and weary, but they are very strong. This small Clay County community was hit tremendously hard by the June flooding. Many residents are still without electric and water; 30 percent of the H.E. White elementary students are living in campers and tents; 75 percent had homes destroyed; and 95 percent were directly impacted. It is an underserved community with not a lot of help from outside resources. If you are interested in helping, here are some suggestions:

1. Organize a volunteer trip. Bring equipment to work--shovels, wheelbarrows, and if you have any kind of heavier equipment, it would be especially appreciated. One job LC helped with was plowing out a driveway covered in mud. There is a wheelchair ramp that needs to be built. If you have limited knowledge or not such a strong back, there is plenty to do in the school and community. It's not difficult, the school is always open, and there is always work to do. Contact Lesley White 304-476-3632 for the Clay County contact info.
2. Join one of the community planned trips to Bomont. We are planning one for late July and early August. We will pick a meeting point and leave around 7am, getting home usually around 5. Make sure you get your tetanus shot and dress appropriately--masks, gloves, boots, long pants, etc. We are planning to go weekly or so through the summer and fall. This is a long process.
3. Donations: At this time, donations have changed in nature. Gift cards to Lowes and Save A Lot (the only grocery store in the community) would be especially appreciated. Building supplies such as lumber, insulation, Sheetrock, etc. would also be appreciated.
4. Family Adoption: Liz Garton is starting to acquire names of families in grave need. The idea is to adopt a family for a year and donate as much/little as you wish, in hopes that you can be a support system that is so desperately needed.
5. Prayers: The greatest support of all.
