Luke 18:9-14

St. Luke's Gospel today describes the demeanor of two men praying in the temple: a haughty Pharisee and a humble tax collector. The Pharisee tells God how wonderful he is by tithing the correct amount, fasting twice each week, by not being greedy, dishonest, or adulterous, "or even like this tax collector." He is pretty proud of himself.

Meanwhile, the tax collector isn't even able to "raise his eyes to heaven." All he can do is beat his breast and pray, "O God, be merciful to me a sinner." Jesus praises his humility.

Ah, humility. My sister-in-law, the vice president of communications at a university, sent me this text the other day: "Omg. I just sent an all-campus email, a death notification, with the wrong name. I killed the woman across the hall from me. In my defense, the last name is the same, and the first names are close."

Being the supportive sister I am, I replied, "You murderer!" But added, "Now what??"

She texted that she called to apologize to the woman across the hall and to her supervisor and sent a corrective email. Then she wrote: "Humiliation." Yup. I hate those humility lessons, too.

When we rehashed it later she said, "By the way, the 11th Commandment is 'Thou shalt not reply all.'"

Now, back to the two praying men. The Pharisee was doing everything right. He was following the law to the letter, obeying the commandments. The tax collector, on the other hand, could have been overcharging his customers and pocketing a few bucks for himself. He was working for the Roman government, for pity's sake!

The problem is, the Pharisee wasn't even praying. He was bragging. Then it occurred to me. I've been guilty of the same "prayer."

"Hey, God! Why aren't you listening to me? Why aren't you answering my prayers?? Are you paying attention? I work for your Church! Yeah, there are better-paying jobs out there, but, no, I'm dedicating my career to you. And every time that collection basket comes around, I give. And volunteer, too! Come on, Lord. Pay attention!" Then the realization comes that I'm only doing what I am supposed to do anyway. Another humility lesson. Hate them.

Here's what we can learn from the two men in the temple:

- 1) God already knows our good and bad points. We won't have to tell him.
- 2) Don't compare ourselves to others. We either end up being proud of ourselves or ashamed of ourselves. Neither emotion is productive.
- 3) If we are truly sorry for our sins, God, in his infinite mercy and everlasting love, will forgive us.
- 4) No amount of good works, church attendance, tithes, or volunteering makes us "better" in God's eyes. He desires obedience.
- 5) Our prayers don't have to be complicated. It's enough to say, "Have mercy on me, a sinner."
- 6) And, finally, a little humility goes a long way.

These trainings are for Extraordinary Ministers to the homebound as well!

Training sessions begin at 6:00 p.m. in the Church.

OUR FINAL DAYS

To live in a manner worthy of our human dignity, and to spend our final days on this earth in peace and comfort, surrounded by loved ones—that is the hope of each of us. In particular, Christian hope sees these final days as a time to prepare for our eternal destiny.

Today, however, many people fear the dying process. They are afraid of being kept alive past life's natural limits by burdensome medical technology. They fear experiencing intolerable pain and suffering, losing control over bodily functions, or lingering with severe dementia. They worry about being abandoned or becoming a burden on others.

Our society can be judged by how we respond to these fears. A caring community devotes more attention, not less, to members facing the most vulnerable times in their lives. When people are tempted to see their own lives as diminished in value or meaning, they most need the love and assistance of others to assure them of their inherent worth.

Come to Mass, then afterwards, stop at one of the location gardens in the front and sides of the church, to support your local Council.

MEETING DATES: The Knights of Columbus regular monthly meeting will be on Tues., Nov. 2, at 7 in the cafeteria.

The monthly board meeting will be on Tues., Oct. 25, at 7 at the Hickory House Event Center. All officers and members are invited!

Dear Padre

OCTOBER 23, 2016

Did Judas go to hell? If the crucifixion was necessary, wasn't he fulfilling God's will? Even Jesus foretold his betrayal.

No, the Church doesn't teach that Judas went to hell. A declaration of condemnation must be left to the justice of God. We can never know if even the worst sinner repents of his or her sins or the extent of his or her guilt.

A more interesting tangent to this question deals with human freedom. If Judas was "destined" to betray Jesus, he would have had no free will and therefore could not be held accountable for his actions. This might seem as a kind of justification, but an appeal to a fate that robs the individual of human freedom is not valid. We are incapable of determining an individual's culpability, but we can say with certainty whether some actions in and of themselves are proper or improper.

Judas did a bad thing; it would have been better had he not betrayed our Lord. But we don't know whether Judas sinned. He could have been confused about what was right or indeed been greedy. Perhaps he never intended his actions to lead to Jesus' death (which may account for his suicide). So we don't know the state of Judas' soul, but we know his betrayal of a friend was not right.

ELECTRONIC GIVING

Electronic giving will enable every household or individual to make their church offering using electronic funds transfer or credit card. You may already be using online bill pay for your mortgage, car payment, or insurance premium through an automatic withdrawal from your checking or savings account. Many of you also have used your credit cards to purchase goods online through Amazon, eBay, or a number of other sites.

We have teamed up with myEoffering to enable you to use the same process to give your offering electronically from your bank account, credit or debit cards.

There is no cost to you for this new giving option. If you are currently giving on a weekly basis, you will no longer need to write out 52 checks a year or prepare 52 envelopes. And when travel, illness or other circumstances prevent you from attending services, this program will allow your weekly offerings to continue uninterrupted.

You can begin participating in the electronic giving program immediately. Just visit our church website and look for the "Donate Now" button. Thank you for considering this giving opportunity.

RCIA

Sessions begin at 6:30pm every Wednesday in the parish meeting room. If you are interested or you know
