We have spoken on a couple of occasions about the four axes of the liturgical year—both historically and in our modern times—on which the entire Mystery of the Life of Christ reveals itself through our common worship. These days are Christmas, Epiphany, the Paschal Triduum, and Pentecost. Each in their own way manifest to the world a fundamental aspect of who Jesus is, of what his mission of Salvation has achieved, and how we are called to respond to it.

Of course, we know all about Christmas. Not only is the event poignant and heart-warming, but it also has lent itself to cultural appropriation. It has joined so seamlessly with our own consumerist mentality, wherein the likes of Charles Dickens, Bing Crosby, Frank Capra, et al., have helped to form the Courier & Ives-esque image of a day that hinges on the retail-industrial complex. We not only enjoy it—we base our national economic well-being on it.

Easter holds its own and gets a fair amount of attention. But even though it has traditionally been THE holy day for the Church throughout history, in our culture it always plays second fiddle to Christmas. The songs just are not as catchy as Christmas carols, Easter baskets cannot hold a candle to presents under a tree, and the Easter Bunny is no match for Santa Claus!

Epiphany has almost become a throw-away day, being transferred here and there on the calendar in order to accommodate the increasingly busy schedules of western Catholics. As the 12th day of Christmas, it is the day on which the Christ Child is manifested to the whole world as King and Savior through the eyes of the Magi. But it rarely gets the recognition it deserves.

Historically, as has been featured in this publication before, Epiphany and Pentecost were the two hinges of the “ordinary time” of the calendar. But those days were far from ordinary, as they were firmly rooted in the theme of the particular days. So if Epiphany focused on the saving action of Christ in his earthly ministry, then Pentecost is given to us for the purpose of taking that message out to the world.

Pentecost (which means “fifty”) was celebrated by the Hebrew people to mark 50 days after Passover. One of the three pilgrimage feasts of Israel (cf. Leviticus 23, Deuteronomy 16), it was not originally associated with an historical event, a la Hanukkah or Passover. In Leviticus it is called “The Feast of Weeks,” a one-day festival that marked the beginning of harvest season. Both Leviticus and Deuteronomy stress that, during the harvest, special consideration was to be given to provide for the poor and the aliens in the land (Lev. 23:22, Deut. 16:11-12). Based on dates that we can glean from Exodus 19:1 (when the Hebrews arrived at Mt. Sinai) the feast of Pentecost was expanded to include a commemoration of God giving the Law to His people. The Book of Ruth, with its themes of harvest, was often read at this time in Jewish tradition. For Catholics, our own liturgical tradition yielded Rogation Days (which exist in law but rarely in practice), which were days of intense prayer directed by a Diocesan Bishop principally for the intention of a good crop yield. For reference, the Rogation Days, which were built into the liturgical calendar up until 1969, would have been observed just a couple of weeks ago.

Often when we think of Pentecost we link it to thoughts of the Birthday of the Church. On the day of Pentecost, according to the second chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, God poured out the Holy Spirit on Our Lady and the Apostles, endowing them with the Gifts of the Spirit that they would need to fulfill his Great Commission to go out and make disciples of all nations.

This day, then, should be an occasion for us as the Church of Christ to celebrate. And yet what is generally regarded as the day dedicated to “the forgotten Person of the Trinity” often becomes just another Sunday. When we contrast the pomp and circumstance of Christmas and Easter with the relative silence of Pentecost, it is more than just a little perplexing. Perhaps a cynic might view the situation according to a consumerist model: “If we can’t use it to buy/sell stuff, then it has no value.”

Perhaps we have forgotten the words of Jesus: “...it is to your advantage that I go away, for if I do not go away the Advocate will not come to you; but if I go, I will send him to you” (John 16:7). Jesus Himself tells us that the coming of the Holy Spirit is going to be the best thing that ever happens to us. The outpouring of the Spirit is the capstone to everything that Jesus began in His earthly ministry. He, who became incarnate, was revealed to the nations, was crucified, buried, raised, and ascended, is now enthroned in Heaven, and from that throne, He sends His Spirit to enshrine in our hearts the New Covenant, which He established in His Church.

“The days are surely coming, says the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the House of Israel and the House of Judah. It will not be like the covenant that I made with their ancestors when I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, a covenant that they broke, though I was their husband, says the Lord. But this is the covenant that I will make with the House of Israel after those days, says the Lord: I will put my law within them, and I will write it on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. No longer shall they teach one another, or say to each other, “Know the Lord,” for they shall all know me, from the least to the greatest, says the Lord; for I will forgive their iniquity and remember their sin no more” (Jeremiah 31: 31-34).

“I will sprinkle clean water upon you, and you shall be clean from all your uncleanness, and from all your idols I will cleanse you. A new heart I will give you and a new spirit I will put within you; and I will remove from your body the heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. I will put my spirit within you, and make you follow my statutes and be careful to observe my ordinances...” (Ezekiel 36:25-27).

And so the day that was originally identified with the giving of the Old Covenant Law now marks the New Covenant in action! The giving of the Law, fulfilled in Christ Jesus, now progresses to the next great age of humanity in which God no longer gives us His Law in stone but writes it in the flesh of our hearts. The announcement of the harvest now becomes beginning of gathering of the nations into the umbrella of the Church. The command to remember the poor and dispossessed is fulfilled in the Body of Christ, which becomes increasingly diverse and manifests itself in unselfish, self-sacrificial love for others. The Risen and Victorious Lord, now seated at the right hand of the Father, pours out His Spirit on God’s people!

It is our day of victory, our day of joy, our day in which—once again—God fulfills His promise to His People. May we all receive the Holy Spirit into our hearts with the joy and enthusiasm of the Apostles that we, too, might go out to the world and make disciples of all nations!

Commentary for the Readings in the Extraordinary Form: Pentecost Sunday

"Suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a violent wind. . .it filled the whole house. . .And there appeared to them parted tongues as of fire, which settled upon each of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit" (Epistle).

On Christmas we celebrate the birthday of Christ in His Physical Body. Today is the birthday of the Church, of all those who have been reborn into His Mystical Body.

How did the first Christians prepare? They were all "in prayer" with Mary; and they were "all of one mind," under the leadership of Peter, making ready to tell "men from every nation under heaven. . .of the wonderful works of God" (Epistle). Yes, prayer and action are the marks of the true Christian.

In the Offertory we ask the Holy Spirit to "confirm" the graces "wrought in us" when we were baptized and confirmed. We pray also "to relish" things of the Spirit and to benefit by "His consolation" (Prayer) in the struggle of Church and soul against "the prince of the world" (Gospel).

Kids’ Corner Catechesis

Why is the Devil After Us?

Satan is God's enemy, so he is against anyone who is on God's side. Satan is jealous of our friendship with God—he can't stand it when we spend time with the Lord. And he wants to stop us from obeying God and from doing good. The devil hates God, so he hates us because we love God.

Key Verses

So give yourself humbly to God. Resist the devil and he will run from you. (James 4:7)

School News

Dear Parishioners,

As another school year comes to a close, the St. Patrick School faculty, staff and administration would like to express our heartfelt thanks to all of our supportive parishioners. We truly appreciate all you do for us, from your tremendous financial support to the many other things you do every day that enable us to continue to educate our students. For Father DeViese, Sandy, Mary, Parish Council, Advisory Board, Foundation Board and the many volunteers who all help to support and promote Catholic education at St. Pat's, we sincerely say, "THANK YOU ALL!"

During the month of May, all of our students were engaged in praying and reflecting on the Rosary and the life of Jesus. Our third through seventh graders led an all-school living Rosary. The students formed a circle around the church sanctuary, with each student leading the prayer associated with his or her position in the Rosary. The service concluded with music devoted to our Blessed Mother.

The students witnessed service in action during a benefit art show for teacher, Shelly Kraus. Each student created a "masterpiece" for auction during the show. This is the second year for the art show which raised over $5000.00 for medical expenses.

During the last week of school, we hosted a special tradition called Senior Walk. This event was held to inspire younger students to aim for college after graduation and to honor former St. Patrick School students. Fourteen graduating seniors strolled the hallways in their caps and gowns as current students cheered them on. The walk is an impressionable moment for the younger students and a memorable moment for the seniors.

This is the time of year we bid farewell to departing staff and students leaving our school. We thank those faculty members who will be moving on for their contributions to our school-Mrs. Becky Moore, Mrs. Kari Park, Mrs. Cheryl Moore and Mary Hendricks. Mrs. Moore was the second grade teacher First Communion religious education teacher for 10 years. Mary was the school development director for 26 years and the sixth grade religion teacher for the past 5 years, in addition to her duties as pastoral associate for the past 11 years. They have all left their own special impression on our students, parents and colleagues. We wish them all the best and much success and we wish Mary much joy in her retirement.. May God bless each of you. We wish you on the very best.

We culminated the school year with a prayer service and awards assembly to celebrate the accomplishments and recognize what the students achieved academically, and in service to their school and community. Students received awards for attendance, high grades, conduct, reading, artistic ability, and service. We are very proud of the academic preparation that students of our school receive. We are equally proud of the self-discipline, character and values the students learn and develop.

We firmly believe in our mission as a Catholic school to instill in all our students the lessons that will prepare them not only for academic and career success, but also for life success. You take your discipline and your character into every sphere of your life. As a principal, one of the great joys of my week are our school Masses and the other opportunities I have to interact with our students and faculty. I see with my own eyes the wonderful difference a Catholic school education can make. And so our parish community and our faculty and staff at our school take great pride in being able to offer this ministry to Catholic and non-Catholic families alike. We are honored to be a part of such a warm and faith-filled community.

Peace,
Maureen K. Gildein, M.Ed.
